

Emily Finch, 23, from York has spent her life savings on a double decker bus in order to reach out to young people with the Christian message of God's love. Emily, who is supported by Scripture Union bought the 10 meter long vehicle with a vision to help rural churches. It has been so successful that the bus has now undergone a refurbishment and bookings are increasing all the time.

Emily has set up her own charity to help raise funds and manage the project. The trustees of THE BUS STOP are looking for help to keep Emily on the road instead of in the office!

Could you help us? We need volunteers willing to give a just few hours a month helping in the background to manage and steer the project. We also need volunteers to go with her on the bus.

If you can help or want more details, please call or email Emily.
